Re: Historical/Archaeological Resources Reconnaissance
Fifth and Third Street Corridor Specific Plan
Cities of San Bernardino and Highland, San Bernardino County, California
CRM TECH Contract No. 3176

Dear Mr. Dodson:

At your request, CRM TECH has completed a historical/archaeological resources reconnaissance for the Fifth and Third Street Corridor Specific Plan proposed by the Inland Valley Development Agency (IVDA). The specific plan covers approximately 675 acres of urban land in an area of mixed residential and commercial uses, which lies across the boundary between the Cities of San Bernardino and Highland, San Bernardino County, California (Figure 1). The planning area extends between Third Street and Sixth Street from Tippecanoe Avenue on the west to State Route 210 on the east, within Sections 4, 5, 8, and 9, T1S R3W, San Bernardino Baseline and Meridian, and a portion of the Rancho San Bernardino land grant (Figure 1).

The study is a part of the environmental review process for the Fifth and Third Street Corridor Specific Plan. As the lead agency for the specific plan, the IVDA required the study in compliance with the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA; PRC §21000, et seq.). The purpose of the study is to identify and inventory all potential "historical resources" or "tribal cultural resources," as defined by CEQA, that are located within the planning area for future statutory/regulatory compliance considerations. In order to accomplish this objective, CRM TECH conducted a historical/archaeological resources records search, pursued general historical background research, contacted Native American representatives, and carried out a systematic field survey. This letter presents a summary of the methods and results of these research procedures.

PREVIOUS CULTURAL RESOURCES STUDIES

On February 14, 2017, CRM TECH archaeologist Nina Gallardo, B.A., conducted the historical/archaeological resources records search at the South Central Coastal Information Center (SCCIC), California State University, Fullerton. During the records search, Gallardo examined maps and records on file at the SCCIC for previously identified cultural resources in or near the planning area and existing cultural resources reports pertaining to the vicinity. Previously identified cultural resources include properties designated as California Historical Landmarks, Points of Historical Interest, or San Bernardino County Landmarks, as well as those listed in the National Register of Historic Places, the California Register of Historical Resources, or the California Historical Resources Inventory.

According to SCCIC records, more than 30 previous cultural resource studies completed between 1973 and 2015 covered portions of the planning area, including significant stretches of Third, Fifth, and Sixth Streets, but the planning area as a whole had not been surveyed systematically prior to this study (Figure 2). As a result of the past studies, 103 cultural resources were previously identified as lying within, partially within, or adjacent to the boundaries of the planning area, including eight archaeological sites (Table 1) and 95 buildings or groups of buildings (Table 2).

Site Number	Name
36-006848	Cram and Van Leuven Ditch
36-029563	Remains of mid-20th century irrigation system
36-010820	San Bernardino, Arrowhead and Waterman Railroad
P1074-97H	McKenzie Ditch
P1074-98H	Stewarts Ditch
P1074-99H	Whitlock Ditch
P1074-100H	Feudge Ditch
PSBR-27H	North Fork Ditch

As Table 1 shows, all eight of the known archaeological sites in the planning area dated to the historic period, and no prehistoric—i.e., Native American—sites have been identified within the planning area. One the sites, 36-010820, represents the former alignment of the San Bernardino, Arrowhead and Waterman Railroad, also known as the Harlem Motor Road or the Highlands Motor Line. Although originally recorded well outside the planning area, this rail line once traversed within the Sixth Street right-of-way along the northern project boundary (USGS 1901; 1943a; 1943b; NETR Online 1938). Constructed in 1888 as a narrow-gauge motor line from San Bernardino to Harlem Hot Springs, the San Bernardino, Arrowhead and Waterman Railroad operated for 20 years before being acquired by the Pacific Electric Railway Company and eventually dismantled sometime around the 1940s (Swett 1967:23; ERHA n.d.).

The other seven sites all consisted of irrigation features, and six of them represented the former courses of various ditches dating to the mid- or late-19th century. A closer examination of the existing records indicates that the delineation of these long-abandoned early ditches across the planning area was based solely on historical accounts, and no physical remains have been recorded of any of them within the planning area boundaries. A review of previous studies on irrigation works in the San Bernardino Valley indicates that one of them, the Cram and Van Leuven Ditch (36-006848), in fact terminated before reaching the planning area, where it merged into the North Fork Ditch (PSBR-27H; Scott 1977:14-15).

The only archaeological site that was actually observed in the planning area was 36-029563, which was recorded in 2015 as the remnants of a localized irrigation system, such as concrete junction boxes and a pump, that was installed sometime between 1943 and 1959 (Vader et al. 2015:2-3). The existing site record forms offer no evidence that the site was evaluated for historic significance at the time of recordation, and the cultural resources survey report cited in the site record (Ehringer et al. 2015) could not be located at the SCCIC despite diligent search efforts.

Of the 95 buildings or groups of building identified within, partially within, or adjacent to the planning area, all but two were recorded, or had their documentation updated, during two past studies completed by CRM TECH in 2011 and 2013, and all of them were determined not to meet the criteria for listing in the National Register of Historic Places or the California Register of Historical Resources (Tang and Jacquemain 2011:7-8; 2013:14-15). Of the other two properties, 36-029562 represented a circa 1916 residence recorded in 2015, which was also found not to be eligible for the National Register or the California Register (McDonald and Anderson 2015:2). The other, 36-013750, was recorded in 2007 as a shed and a garage that survived from a former residential property of unknown age, but was not evaluated at the time (Alexandrowicz 2007a; 2007b:76).

Outside of the planning area but within a one-mile radius, SCCIC records show some 80 additional studies covering various tracts of land and linear features, many of them on the former Norton Air Force Base, now the San Bernardino International Airport (Figure 2). As a result, 98 additional historical/archaeological sites, including 88 recorded sites and 10 pending sites, and four isolates—i.e., localities with fewer than three artifacts—were identified within the one-mile scope of the records search.

Among these 102 known cultural resources, only two sites and two isolates were of Native American origin. Both of the sites were recorded in the early 1960s as Native American habitation areas occupied in historic times. One of them, 36-002794, yielded buried mortars and metates during construction work, while the other, 36-002313, was simply described as being “completely gone” (Smith 1961; 1962). The two isolates were recorded as a painted sandstone concretion and a white chert flake.

The vast majority of the 102 cultural resources outside the planning area dated to the historic period, and included 74 buildings and structures, most of them located on the former Norton Air Force Base, along with additional irrigation features, roads, and scattered refuse items. None of these 102 cultural resources was found in the immediate vicinity of the planning area. Therefore, none of them requires further consideration in the proposed specific plan.

NATIVE AMERICAN INPUT

On February 9, 2017, CRM TECH submitted a written request to the State of California’s Native American Heritage Commission for a records search in the commission’s sacred lands file. In response, the commission reported that the records search identified no Native American cultural resources within the planning area but recommended that local Native American groups be contacted for further information. For that purpose, the commission provided a list of potential contacts in the region (Appendix 1).

Following the commission’s recommendation, on February 23 CRM TECH sent written requests for comments to all five individuals on the referral list and the organizations they represent (Appendix 1). In addition, as previously directed by the Morongo Band of Mission Indians, Raymond Huaute, the tribe’s Cultural Resources Specialist, was also contacted.

As of this time, only two of the tribal representatives have responded to the inquiry. Goldie Walker, Chairperson of the Serrano Nation of Indians, stated in a telephone conversation on March 8, 2017, that the general area is sensitive for Native American cultural resources. She requested that a monitor from the Serrano Nation be present during all ground-disturbances in the planning area, notification of any archaeological findings, and copies of all cultural resources documentation for tribal review.

On April 8, 2017, Joan Schneider, Consulting Archaeologist for the San Manuel Band of Mission Indians, replied by e-mail and identified the planning area as a part of the Serrano ancestral territory and an area that the tribe considers to be culturally sensitive. She requested additional information regarding the specific plan in order to facilitate further, government-to-government consultations, and that a standard Phase I cultural resources survey be completed on the entire planning area (Appendix 1).

POTENTIAL “HISTORICAL RESOURCES” IN THE PLANNING AREA

Prior to the field survey, historic maps dated 1858-1967 and aerial photographs taken in 1938-1968 were reviewed systematically to establish past land use and development patterns in the project vicinity, and to identify potential historic-period features within the planning area (GLO 1858; 1876; USGS 1901-1967; NETR Online 1938-1968). Buildings or structures that postdate 1968 are less than 50 years old at this time and generally do not meet the requirement for potential “historical resources” unless they demonstrate extraordinary merits in architecture, construction, or aesthetics. Therefore, they were excluded from further consideration in this study in the absence of such merits.

Based on these criteria, a total of 315 buildings or group of buildings in the planning area that have not been previously recorded or evaluated for CEQA-compliance purposes, most of them residential properties, are considered to be potential “historical resources.” These properties, listed in Appendix 2, will require proper evaluation under CEQA provisions when involved in future projects, along with the property that was previously recorded as 36-013750 but not evaluated.

Using the list in Appendix 2 as a guide, on May 8 and 9, 2017, CRM TECH field director Daniel Ballester, M.S., and project archaeologist Nina Gallardo, B.A, carried out the field reconnaissance by driving along each street in the planning area and visually inspecting all built-environment features encountered. In addition, areas where archaeological resources were previously identified in the planning area were intuitively inspected on foot as warranted. The results of the survey efforts indicate that the planning area lies in a mixed-use area where the streets are lined with residential and commercial properties interspersed with stretches of vacant land. Most of the developed lots are 50-100 feet in width, but several exceed 300 feet in width. The larger parcels are sometimes occupied by several buildings of various vintage.

Two older single-family residential neighborhoods dating to the 1959-1968 era (NETR Online 1959; 1968) were found to be relatively intact, one occupying three blocks on either side of Del Rosa Drive between Third and Fifth Streets, and one located between Victoria and Central Avenues and between Fifth and Sixth Street. Of these, the former consists of some 120 residential properties while the latter comprises some 50-60.

The vast majority of the 315 properties listed in Appendix 2 evidently date to the post-WWII boom period of circa 1945 to the late 1960s, and their overall appearance is consistent to the prevailing architectural trend and building practices of the time, while three of the properties may predate WWII (NETR Online 1938-1968). Although these buildings appear to retain at least a minimally recognizable level of historical character, nearly all of them have been altered to varying degrees, with replacement windows, new sidings and roofs, and horizontal or vertical additions the most common modifications.

The ground surface in most of the planning area has been extensively disturbed by past development activities, most notably the construction of the buildings, roads, and other infrastructure features, which significantly reduces the sensitivity of the planning area for archaeological resources from the prehistoric or early historic period. No physical remnants were observed of any of the six early ditches listed in Table 1, nor were any features or artifacts associated with Site 36-010820, the San Bernardino, Arrowhead and Waterman Railroad, found along its former alignment. At Site 36-029563, however, the fragmented irrigation features recorded in 2015 remain extant in a vacant field between Fifth Street and Sixth Street, to the east of Del Rosa Drive (Appendix 3).

CONCLUSION AND RECOMMENDATIONS

In summary, seven of the eight archaeological sites previously identified as lying within, partially within, or adjacent to the planning area (Table 1), representing six 19th century irrigation ditches and the San Bernardino, Arrowhead and Waterman Railroad, have evidently been obliterated by past development. However, in light of their potential local historic interest, it is recommended that, prior to the commencement of any proposed project in the immediate vicinity of any of these sites (Appendix 3), further historical research be completed to establish their precise locations in relation to the project area, and an intensive-level archaeological field survey and, if necessary, an extended Phase I survey be conducted in the vicinity to ascertain the presence or absence of any surface or subsurface remains that may be impacted by future development.

The last remaining known archaeological site in the planning area, 36-029563, consists of a group of abandoned irrigation features from the late historic period. Generally speaking, such minor, fragmented irrigation features of similar age, virtually ubiquitous on agricultural land or former agricultural land in southern California, are unlikely to qualify as “historical resources” under CEQA guidelines. Nevertheless, since SCCIC records contain no indication that it has been formally evaluated for statutory compliance purposes, Site 36-029563 will need to be considered a potential “historical resource” that requires proper evaluation unless the 2015 survey report cited in the existing site record (Ehringer et al. 2015) becomes available for review and proves to contain an adequate evaluation.

The results of the records search indicate that 95 buildings or groups of building were previously recorded within the planning area (Table 2), and 94 of them have been evaluated as not being eligible for listing in the National Register of Historic Places or the California Register of Historical Resources. As such, these 94 properties do not meet CEQA’s definition of “historical resources,” leaving only one, 36-013750, consisting of a shed and a garage from a former residential property at 27262 Meines Street, to be evaluated under CEQA provisions in the future. However, the present study identified a total of 315 additional buildings or groups of buildings within the planning area that appear to be of historical origin but remain to be recorded and evaluated (Appendix 2).

Pursuant to CEQA guidelines, the 316 properties in the planning area with historic-period buildings that have not been evaluated should be treated as potential “historical resources” in the planning process, along with the irrigation features at Site 36-029563. If a proposed project will impact any of these properties, further study will be needed to determine whether the affected buildings or features meet the statutory definition as a “historical resource.” If federal funding, permit, or license is required for the project, they will also need to be addressed as potential “historic properties” under Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act.

In general, CEQA guidelines require that the specific area designated for a proposed project be surveyed at an intensive level for both archaeological and built-environment features in a standard

Phase I study in order to ensure the proper identification of “historical resources” and “tribal cultural resources.” A program-level study for a general plan or large-scale specific plan, such as this one, cannot be used as a substitute. For projects to be proposed under the Fifth and Third Street Corridor Specific Plan, CEQA’s requirement for Phase I cultural resources surveys remains valid, since this study did not entail an intensive-level archaeological survey of the entire planning area, unless an adequate Phase I study was completed on the property within the past five years. Meanwhile, the approval of all future projects in the planning area should incorporate the standard condition that all buried cultural materials discovered during earth-moving operations be examined and evaluated by a qualified archaeologist before any further ground disturbances.

Thank you for this opportunity to be of service.

Sincerely,

Bai “Tom” Tang, Principal Investigator
CRM TECH

RE: Proposed Inland Valley Development Agency's Specific Plan; Third to Sixth, Tippecanoe to I-215 Project, Cities of San Bernardino and Highland; San Bernardino County, California

Dear Ms. Gallardo:

A record search of the Native American Heritage Commission (NAHC) Sacred Lands File was completed for the area of potential project effect (APE) referenced above with negative results. Please note that the absence of specific site information in the Sacred Lands File does not indicate the absence of Native American cultural resources in any APE.

Attached is a list of tribes culturally affiliated to the project area. I suggest you contact all of the listed Tribes. If they cannot supply information, they might recommend others with specific knowledge. The list should provide a starting place to locate areas of potential adverse impact within the APE. By contacting all those on the list, your organization will be better able to respond to claims of failure to consult. If a response has not been received within two weeks of notification, the NAHC requests that you follow-up with a telephone call to ensure that the project information has been received.

If you receive notification of change of addresses and phone numbers from any of these individuals or groups, please notify me. With your assistance we are able to assure that our lists contain current information. If you have any questions or need additional information, please contact via email: gayle.totton@nahc.ca.gov.

Sincerely,

RE: Inland Valley Development Agency's Specific Plan
675 Acres in the Cities of Highland and San Bernardino
San Bernardino County, California
CRM TECH Contract #3176

Dear Mr. Huaute:

I am writing to bring your attention to an ongoing CEQA-compliance study for the proposed project referenced above. The focus of the project is the development of a new specific plan for an approximately 675-acre mixed-use corridor between Third Street and Sixth Street and between Tippecanoe Avenue and the Interstate 210 Freeway, in the Cities of Highland and San Bernardino. The accompanying map, based on the USGS Redlands and San Bernardino South, Calif., 7.5' quadrangles, depict the location of the study area in T1S R3W and T1S R4W, SBBM, mostly within the Rancho San Bernardino land grant.

According to records on file at the South Central Coastal Information Center (SCCIC), there are 110 known historical/archaeological sites, including 101 historic-period buildings, within the boundaries of the project area. Outside the project boundaries but within a one-mile radius, SCCIC records show that 81 historical/archaeological sites, 10 "pending" sites, and four isolates—i.e., localities with fewer than three artifacts—were previously recorded. Two of the known sites and two of the isolates were of prehistoric—i.e., Native American—origin, described as a campsite and a collection of groundstone artifacts such as metates and mortars, all located a half-mile or more from the project area. The other 79 sites, 10 pending sites, and other two isolates dated to the historic period and included at least 66 buildings, canals/creeks/ditches, roads, refuse scatters, and a historical railroad.

In a letter dated February 9, 2017, the Native American Heritage Commission reports that the sacred lands record search identified no Native American cultural resources within the project area, but recommends that local Native American groups be contacted for further information (see attached). Therefore, as part of the cultural resources study for this project, I am writing to request your input on potential Native American cultural resources in or near the project area.

Please respond at your earliest convenience if you have any specific knowledge of sacred/religious sites or other sites of Native American traditional cultural value in or near the project area, or any other information to consider during the cultural resources investigations. Any information or concerns may be forwarded to CRM TECH by telephone, e-mail, facsimile, or standard mail. Requests for documentation or information we cannot provide will be forwarded to our client and/or the lead agency, namely the Inland Valley Development Agency.

We would also like to clarify that, as the cultural resources consultant for the project, CRM TECH is not involved in the AB 52-compliance process or in government-to-government consultations. The purpose of this letter is to seek any information that you may have to help us determine if there are cultural resources in or near the project area that we should be aware of. Thank you for your time and effort in addressing this important matter.

Respectfully,

Nina Gallardo

Re: Inland Valley Development Agency Specific Plan Project within the cities of Highland and San Bernardino

Dear Ms. Gallardo

Thank you for contacting the San Manuel Band of Mission Indians (SMBMI) regarding the above referenced project(s). SMBMI appreciates the opportunity to review the project documentation, which was received by our Cultural Resources Management Department on February 24, 2017. Although SMBMI's response is somewhat beyond the 30-day response time as legislated, we are hoping that you will consider the Tribe's comments for the initial study. By this e-mail, SMBMI will be requesting to consult with the Inland Valley Development Agency as the Lead Agency on this project pursuant to CEQA (as amended, 2015) and CA PRC 21080.3.1. The proposed project area exists within Serrano ancestral territory and, therefore, is of interest to the Tribe. As you are no doubt aware, the City Creek area is especially culturally sensitive for the Serrano people and that sensitivity is not limited to the prehistoric time frame. You may wish to alert your client that SMBMI will be requesting both archaeological and Tribal monitoring (from a list of SMBMI-approved Tribal monitors) for this project. SMBMI will also ask that specific language be included in any permitting for this project.

Due to the nature and location of the proposed project, SMBMI respectfully requests that the Cultural Resources Assessment that CRM Tech is preparing include:

  X  . A records search of the Sacred Lands Files managed by the CA Native American Heritage Commission and a site file and associated literature search at the appropriate California Historical Resources Information System Information Center to identify any and all recorded cultural resources within a 1-mile radius of the proposed project location(s), as well as general background research using GLO maps, Sanborn maps, historical atlases, city and state records, and other historical documents;

  X  . Additional maps/illustrations be provided, specifically including:

- X   an aerial map;
- X   a USGS quadrangle map;

a map indicating the search radius of the background research, as well as the locations where previous studies were conducted and where known historic resources are located;

photographs of the proposed project area;

engineering/design plans for the proposed project, especially plans indicating where ground-disturbing activities will occur and to what horizontal and vertical extent.

A Phase I archaeological investigation of the totality (100%) of the proposed project's area of potential effect (APE) via the employ of a number of methods, including pedestrian survey that employs a transect interval of no more than 10 meters, shovel test probes, remote sensing, and/or deep testing via controlled units or trenching of appropriate landscapes. The use of specific field methods and techniques must be justifiable and dependent upon the type and amount of ground cover present (visibility), the topographic setting (degree of slope, proximity to water, etc.), past land use (degree of prior disturbance), and probability for encountering previously undocumented resources during the proposed project (low, moderate, high probability). We strongly recommend that visibility must equal 50% or greater of the ground surface area to use pedestrian survey/reconnaissance only. Areas that have not been disturbed in the past and/or high probability areas must be explored using sub-surface testing methods in addition to pedestrian survey. Additionally, we ask that there be no collection of artifacts or excavation of features during any Phase I archaeological survey.

The provision of this information will assist San Manuel Band of Mission Indians in ascertaining whether or not the Tribe will assume consulting party status under CEQA and participate, moving forward, in project review and implementation. Please note, however, that if this information cannot be provided within the Tribe's 30-day response window, the Tribe automatically elects to be a consulting party under CEQA, as stipulated in AB52. Additionally, the CRM Department asks that the requested information be disseminated digitally via e-mail, FTP site, or some other similar technology.

Once again, the San Manuel Band of Mission Indians appreciates the opportunity to comment on this proposed project at this stage and looks forward to seeing the Assessment that CRM Tech is preparing.

Respectfully,
